ABOUT ME.

I am an interior designer driven by atmosphere, emotion, and the stories spaces can tell. My interest in design began at a young age, when my father would take me to construction sites and I would imagine the unfinished spaces as entirely different worlds to play in. That curiosity still shapes the way I design today. I begin each project by thinking about how a space should feel, then use light, material, colour, scale, and contrast to build that experience. For me, interior design is about transforming empty spaces into environments that people can connect with, remember, and genuinely feel.

EXPERIENCE:

MAHGOUB CERAMIC, EGYPT

OPERATIONS ASSISTANT · JUNE 2019 TO PRESENT

Since the age of 16 I have been helping my father in our family company. Mahgoub has been trading and importing ceramic, porcelain and sanitary ware in Egypt since 1948, when it was founded by Abdel Aziz Mahgoub, and today has four showrooms across Greater Cairo. I assist with placing orders, managing daily operations, supervising staff, and supporting the smooth running of the business.
